1 Read this first — what this is

An honest market-level review, not a live price scrape.

This compares 85 Green Point against the Green Point / Atlantic Seaboard market using published market data and real competitor listings. Exact live nightly rates and each competitor's occupancy are not public — nightly prices require live date-by-date lookups, and occupancy here is a market estimate, never a competitor's real booking data. Rate bands are reasoned from published Atlantic Seaboard figures.

3 The key insight — you are not competing with apartments

Almost every Green Point short-term let is an apartment with no private outdoor space. 85 Green Point is a house with a private plunge pool, a covered braai, multiple sun terraces and panoramic sea-and-city views. That is genuinely scarce in this suburb — it lifts you out of the crowded apartment pack and into a smaller, higher-value tier competing more with Atlantic Seaboard villas. Price and market it accordingly.

4 Comparable Green Point Listings (real, named)

The Braemar	2-bed apt	—	Signal Hill views, open-plan

6 Suggested Nightly Rate Band (estimate, ZAR)

LOW ESTIMATE Winter R1.8–2.5k	EXPECTED ESTIMATE Shoulder R2.5–3.5k	HIGH ESTIMATE Peak Dec–Feb R3.5–5.5k+
--	---	--

Reasoned from published Atlantic Seaboard sea-view rates (R2.0–3.5k) with a premium for private pool, braai and house-scale outdoor space. Confirm against live competitor pricing before publishing. Use 28-night remote-worker rates to hold winter occupancy.

7 Recommended moves

1. Position as a view villa, not an apartment. 2. Professional photos leading with view, pool and braai. 3. Open above the apartment pack (peak R3.5k+), test and adjust. 4. Prioritise the first handful of 5-star reviews to close the track-record gap. 5. Add a winter remote-worker rate.
