1 Your role — the observation foundation

At the heart of AssetProof is the observation foundation: the most critical part of documenting any asset is the physical capture. As an Operator you are the essential eyes on site — capturing high-fidelity walkthrough videos and targeted photography (serial numbers, exact conditions, metadata) that leave no room for ambiguity. While you focus on the site, our centralized specialist team handles the technical production of the documents.

2 Do I need experience? No.

AssetProof values methodical execution over any specific industry background. Because we provide structured documentation aids and visual assessments rather than certified valuations, Operators need no professional designation. The traits that matter: methodical execution, attention to detail, reliability, and procedural integrity — distinguishing confirmed facts from estimates.

3 Operational rhythm

One site visit generates the data for the whole suite — you're paid for the depth of the data, but travel to the site once.

CAPTURE TYPE	EXAMPLE (ILLUSTRATIVE)	SCALE	EST. TIME
High-value home	Bantry Bay residence	186 items; 214 photos + video	2–4 hours
Short-term rental baseline	Green Point studio	50+ items; 29 photos	45–60 min

4 The commercial opportunity

Operators earn through a fee-per-capture and fee-per-report model. The key advantage: no specialist-team payroll — because the centralized team handles production, your overhead stays largely fixed (licence and equipment) rather than variable. You don't hire, train or pay report writers; you capture and earn. Start-up is positioned as a low five-figure investment granting entry to the proven framework. For the full breakdown of costs, fees and returns, request the prospectus.

5 From operator to territory

Start as an Operator — master the capture phase and build a local client base. Step up to Territory Owner — own the market. Because the centralized specialist team does all technical processing, a Territory Owner can add capture teams without hiring report writers: asset-light scaling into a high-volume business while we handle the data.
